

I shall ask God mercifully to protect us.
Then I shall fumigate, help purify the air,
administer medicine and take it.
I shall avoid places and persons where my presence is not needed in order not to become contaminated and thus perchance inflict and pollute others and so cause
Their death as a result of my negligence.

If God should wish to take me, he will surely find me and I have done what he has expected of me and so I am not responsible for either my own death or the death of others. If my neighbor needs me however, I shall not avoid place or person but will go freely as stated above. See, this is such a God-fearing faith because it is nether brash nor foolhardy and does not tempt God.

Thoughts from Pastor Maureen

<sup>1</sup>The Lord is my light and my salvation;
whom shall I fear?

The Lord is the stronghold of my life;
of whom shall I be afraid?

<sup>2</sup>When evildoers assail me to devour my flesh—
my adversaries and foes—they shall stumble and fall.

<sup>3</sup>Though an army encamp against me,
my heart shall not fear;
though war rise up against me,
yet I will be confident.

Psalm 27:1-3

"Though an army encamp against me" sounds a bit like the Covid-19 viral army that is attacking us these days. The psalmist opens with a word of praise to the Lord, saying that there is nothing to fear when the Lord is the stronghold of our lives.

Martin Luther also lived in uncertain times 500 years ago. In 1527 bubonic plague broke out in Wittenberg, Germany, his home community. He was asked "whether one may flee from a deadly plague."

His response:

"I shall ask God mercifully to protect us. Then I shall fumigate, help purify the air, administer medicine and take it. I shall avoid places and persons where my presence is not needed in order not to become contaminated and thus perchance inflict and pollute others and so cause their death as a result of my negligence....If my neighbor needs me however I shall not avoid place or person but will go freely as stated above."

We will continue to rely on God to protect us as God has so faithfully done for all of our lives. Then we will do what we can to help our neighbor. It might mean distantly socializing (or social distancing) or running errands or any of a multitude of other options.

We will get through this time of uncertainty. We will be better and stronger as people and as a community of faith when we are beyond the pandemic, but for now, we must all do the best and the right thing. Not so much for ourselves but for the sake of our neighbors.

For he will hide me in his shelter
in the day of trouble;
he will conceal me under the cover of his tent;
he will set me high on a rock.

Psalm 27:5

Be patient, be faith filled and trust in our Lord and Savior,
Pastor Maureen

Mark's Musings

Miracles

If you know me, you know that I don't believe in magic. God defined the laws of physics; and God never breaks these laws. If something appears magical it is because that thing is following physical laws we have not yet discovered.

But I do believe in miracles. It is my experience that God acts in our lives. But when God acts, God doesn't bend the laws of physics. So how does God's will get done? I have concluded that when God acts, it is always through the people around us.

I have no doubt that Joshua perceived that the sun stood still at Gibeon. (Joshua chapter 10.) Or that the guests at the wedding in Cana observed Jesus turning water into wine—the very best wine we are told. (John chapter 2.) It seems to me that the miracle that occurred at these events was a change in the hearts and understanding of the people involved.

So, if God is omnipotent, why would God choose to act through people? God acts in this way because that is where God can make the greatest impact in our lives. (I first heard this in a sermon by Rev. Gary Benson at Zumbro Lutheran in Rochester.) The Gospel has always been about the arrival of the "Kingdom of God." Jesus says all you have to do to experience this Kingdom is to repent your sins and act righteously. (Mathew 1:15)

There is a poster in the entryway at Vasa Church that says "God's work, our hands." Yep. We are the agents of God's will here on earth.

ELCA presiding bishop addresses concerns about COVID-19

3/6/2020 4:55:00 PM

In 1527 the plague returned to Wittenberg, Germany. Two hundred years earlier the plague had swept across Europe killing up to 40% of the population. Understandably, people were anxious and wondered what a safe and faithful response might be. In answer to this, Martin Luther wrote "Whether One May Flee From a Deadly Plague." In it, he emphasized the duty to care for the neighbor, the responsibility of government to protect and provide services to its citizens, a caution about recklessness, and the importance of science, medicine and common sense.

To provide care for the neighbor, Luther recommended that pastors, those in public office, doctors and public servants should remain in the city. Luther himself remained in Wittenberg to care for his people. He recommended that public hospitals be built to accommodate those with the plague. He condemned those who took unnecessary risks that put themselves and others in danger of contagion. Luther also encouraged the use of reason and medicine, writing, "God has created medicines and has provided us with intelligence to guard and take care of the body. ... Use medicine; take potions which can help you; fumigate house, yard, and street; shun persons and places wherever your neighbor does not need your presence" ("Whether One May Flee From a Deadly Plague," 1527).

We are living in the time of the coronavirus. We are also living in the time of social media and constant, relentless news coverage. Many of our people have the same concerns as those in Luther's day. Many of our people are anxious. Luther's counsel, based on Scripture, is still sound. Respect the disease. Do not take unnecessary risks. Provide for the spiritual and physical needs of the neighbor. Make use of medical aid. Care for one another, especially the most vulnerable.

The churchwide organization recommends the following for churchwide staff: Wash your hands, stay home when you are sick, wear a mask if you have symptoms, consult your medical provider. Bishops and pastors will provide guidelines for worship and church gatherings.

Luther also reminded his people and us that we should trust God's faithfulness and promises, particularly the promise eternal life. Paul writes: "If we live, we live to the Lord, and if we die, we die to the Lord; so then, whether we live or whether we die, we are the Lord's" (Romans 14:8).

In peace,
The Rev. Elizabeth A. Eaton
Presiding Bishop

Church Women

Thank you to everyone listed for the jeans donated to the church women for use in making quilts for the students graduating from high school this spring. We now have enough 6" squares cut from those jeans to make 7 quilts. It takes 140 6" squares of denim and the same for the flannel backing for each quilt – so that means the jeans you brought have been cut into 840 or more 6" squares and re-purposed for gifts for the grads.
